are in funds and are for a proposed socialities marquee on campus. needed is the approval of the Planning Committee.

The word from Gary Symkovisk, Socials Director for the project who has the plans for the marquee ready morning.

Brewster, director of the Plant, stated that the Committee is being finalized and has not met since its proposal was submitted. that marquee would be at the next meeting. the project is approved, there remains a question as to the marquee will be choice of the group was initially north of the Union Center, in the area in this building and the Arts Center, near Campus

Other suggestions were the Wilkinson Center Bookstore Parking Lot and north of the Administration Bldg., near the proposed overpass for the Sports-Culture Area.

Still undecided also is the type of marquee to build. Don't know who to let pick the design," Symkovisk notes. "It will either be the students or a committee of class presidents.

Funds for the project, he reported, would come from the class gift funds of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes. The class presidents have already agreed to use their money, which amounts to over $12,000, for the proposed sign.

However, the cost for the sign would be at most $10,000. Most of the bids have been below this price, Symkovisk said.

Want Design and Quality.

"We are more interested in design and quality than cost," he explained. "We have the money, but we have set the $10,000 ceiling."

Symkovisk said that the purpose of the marquee would be to announce pertinent events to the student body, add beauty to the campus and also inform residents of the community about events on campus.

He further noted that many other large and small universities have marques and have successfully used them to publicize events.

The groups submitting bids are Young Electric Sign Company, 20th Century Lights, Jackson Neon Sign Co. and The Empson Co. These companies have stated that it would take about 40 days to complete construction of the sign.

"We would like to have the sign up before the end of the semester," said Symkovisk, "but this will all depend on whether it is pasted and how soon we can work out details."

Board of Trustees is still what should be done second semester, if the semester is to end before us, he said.

Concerned say that the has been going on for last year a second semester was approved by the Board of Trustees, but it was too implement such a program. Then and now the decided to reconsider, the problem was so students would have to take an extra class to get the field trip experience.

In view of the problems, the Administration asked the faculty advisory council and other groups to make recommendations.

These recommendations were presented to the president and then to the Board of Trustees in February.

The Board didn't decide and the scheduling deadline is past.

Dr. Robert J. Smith, assistant academic vice-president, says the problems of rescheduling are great. "A lot of people don't realize how much work is involved in rescheduling the school year."

THE TAX DEDUCTIONS will be only one feature of today's forum assembly. Belle of the Y will be the subject as the Intercollegiate Knights and the Y Calcarates present "You Really Are a Queen," portraying the trials of being in the Belle contest. In addition, the six finalists will be introduced for the student body vote today and Friday.

Church Against NET

The First Presidency of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints discovered Tuesday any relationship with the Neighborhood Emergency Team.

The teams are supposed to be neighborhood organizations to deal with the problems that would come with civil disorders of a severe type.

The statement reads:

"The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has no connection whatsoever with the Neighborhood Emergency Teams nor does it approve of its members being active in such groups."

"The Church has never authorized the organization of any such groups and does not now give any such authorization. The First Presidency encourages members of The Church to give full support to their local, state and federal law enforcement groups and civil defense officials who are well organized to meet any emergencies which may arise."

Col. William Koerner (retired), one of the leaders of the group, said that the statement was expected. "I've been saying at the meetings that it is not a Church-sponsored organization," he said.

Presidents Urge Creation Of Student Liaison Committee

The Utah President's Council adopted a resolution Saturday for the establishment of a Student Liaison Committee to deal with student problems requiring administrative action at each of the colleges and universities in Utah.

Meeting at Weber State College, the council, composed of the student body presidents of the Utah colleges and universities, urged the colleges to adopt the Commission which has already been established at the University of Utah.

The Commission would deal with such problems as tuition, residence hall hours and other student complaints.

Representatives from the University of Utah at the meeting reported that the Commission at the school has been effective and highly respected by both students and administrators.

The presidents also evaluated the success of the Council's recent lobbying efforts to increase the budgets of state-supported colleges and universities in Utah.

A report issued by the Council said Utah ranked 44th of the 50 states in state appropriations per student.

Rosencrantz

The final performance of "Hamlet" and "Rosencrantz and Guildenstern Are Dead" will be today at the de Jong Concert Hall.

"Hamlet" is the well-known Shakespearean tragedy, played by the Producing Manager's Company of New York at 4 p.m. today.

"Rosencrantz and Guildenstern" is a modern paraphrase of "Hamlet" seen through the eyes of two minor characters, Rosencrantz and Guildenstern. It plays at 8:15 p.m.

Washington Notes

Senator Frank Moss

co-sponsored a resolution calling for the U.S. Government to propose a mutual cease-fire at the Vietnam Peace Talks in Paris.

The resolution was introduced by Senator Walter Mondale, D-Minn. Senator Moss told the Senate an editorial in a Salt Lake City newspaper (Deseret News) pointed out the merit in the proposal.

"Most Americans will be surprised to learn that the United States has never made such a common-sense proposal for a mutual cease-fire," Senator Moss said. "The North Vietnamese should reject it, but at least we should make the sincere offer."

"The proposal should contain detailed provisions for international peacekeeping machinery to oversee the cease-fire, the withdrawal of outside military forces, and prompt free elections."

"Surely a negotiated cease-fire is much preferable to the endless agony of Vietnamization. As the editorial says, 'Certainly a cease-fire could bring all U.S. forces, not just combat troops, home much faster than Vietnamization of the conflict alone.'

"The editorial also points out that Vietnamization alone 'may simply perpetuate the slaughter with South Vietnamese death being substituted for American deaths,'" Senator Moss said.

Co-sponsored two bills introduced by Senator Edmund Muskie, D-Maine, for pollution control Senator Muskie, Chairman of the Subcommittee on Air and Water Pollution, said the bills would be considered at hearings in the near future. One bill is the Air Quality Improvement Act, which would extend and increase the authorizations of the Clean Air Act which expires June 30, 1970.

"This bill authorizes the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare to require emission controls for aircraft, vessels and other moving sources of air pollution," Senator Moss said.

"It also broadens existing provisions regarding automobile emissions controls and establishes an Office of Noise Pollution Abatement in the Department of H.E.W."

The second bill is the Resource Recovery Act which is aimed at replacing the Solid Waste Disposal Act which expires June 30, 1970. "This bill provides authorizations for community disposal facilities and emphasizes the need to recover, recycle and reuse valuable resources which are presently burned, buried and wasted."

"As these older laws expire, we must take a new look at the growing pollution problem facing us. In Salt Lake City and other parts of the state, we have recently witnessed the growing concern of the general public regarding the problem of pollution.

"These two laws alone will not solve the vast problem, but I will work for their passage because of the significant contribution they will make," he said.

Senator Wallace Bennett

Sen. Bennett, recently praised as "realistic, imaginative, and essential" a series of seven environmental anti-pollution bills sent to Congress by President Nixon and introduced today in the Senate. The Utah is a co-sponsor of all seven bills.

"President Nixon has solidly shown his commitment to make our land, air and water compatible with human, animal and plant existence. He has put the great influence of his office on the line to begin the monumental task of repairing the damage that years of neglect have inflicted upon our environment," Sen. Bennett stated.

The bills introduced by Senate Minority Leader Hugh Scott, R-Pa., on behalf of himself and Sen. Bennett include three pieces of legislation to combat water pollution, one on air pollution, one on solid wastes, one to clean up parks and recreation areas, and one to establish an Environmental Financing Authority.

About 349 miles of the Interstate Highway System within Utah are now open to traffic, with work in progress on all but 84 of the remaining 586 miles of the Utah portion, Sen. F. Bennett, reported recently.

The figures represent progress on the 955-mile system in Utah up to the first of 1970. Sen. Bennett noted: "When completed, the Interstate System will be our nation's key highway network, serving both civilian and defense needs, and carrying more than 20 per cent of all traffic," he explained.

Since 1956, more than $315 (m) million worth of projects in the state have been completed, Sen. Bennett said. "Currently, there is an additional $155 (m) million worth of projects that are under way or have been authorized."

Letters to the Editor

"SHAFTED AGAIN"

Editor:
Have you ever had to get tickets for a BYU home basketball game? How tough you been? Frustated? You bet. Ever wonder why it's the way it is? Ever wonder why only 2,700 out of 27,000 students get a free pass to the Coliseum? Please, even if you stay up all night to wait in line this still doesn't guarantee you a pass because hundreds of others you know have the same idea. Why is it that only 2,700 tickets are given away and that the rest of the seats range from $3.25 to $10? I am sure that there is a "lucky" enough to sleep in the Fieldhouse, prior to the ensuing game, then you may chance to claim our team.

The reason for this is the lack of discrimination against BYU students by BYU administration. Where are all the benefits that our students have?

Cardinal for you? That is as good as mine. There seems to be a bias for "Money-hungry" prevailing here, for instance: tuition, books, cafeteria, parking privileges, parking fines, dances and athletic events. About the only thing it hasn't hit yet are our students' rights. I am referring to the Editor. But if you do go to a movie you run the risk of finding your car ticketed for parking in a parking lot or for breaking a window. The parking lot for the Weekend Movie is such a lot. Then don't park in our dorms, because you have to pay for it. So can we? No compromise for the students' sake. In the sides of the stadium and in the basements there are hundreds of students who have money such as all-powerful motivator? Is our "Million dollar-a-day-Church" so unwilling to let us have our BYU problems? Why not any church funds for the Athletic program? All through our church have and have to be used for the church. We have the world's largest softball, ping-pong, golf and basketball tournaments, all Church-sponsored. The Deseret Gym was built at a cost of million then is BYU's athletic program different? Why can't Church-affiliated school instead of BYU administration, when we are forced to pay to have our team play on our own home court? I am sure that the money is there, of course, open circuits cost too much money) all of it? Smith Memorial Bidg?

Why? What's that game? Tel

Future May Uncover Long Republican Era

It must be pleasant to the Republicans in Congress these days to have a well-received Republican President, to find themselves winning battles in Congress, to be possessed with popular programs—and to see the Democrats in the disarray. This is a surprising reversal from those years on when the Democrats were riding so high.

Of course it is not salutary for the country to have the loyal opposition so much in the doffers, uncertain of leadership, unstable in policies. Fortunately the Democrats have a tradition of self-renewal by necessity, of looking-draught while undergoing revival. And the very fact now that some energetic characters may be entering the November election lists—a Stevenson, an ex-college president (Abrams of Brandeis), a Sorenson, a Sorenson—suggests basic vigor.

Misfortune has struck hard at Democrats. Sen. Kennedy drove off the bridge at Chappaquiddick and the charismatic leader, counted on to provide zest for 1970-72, was virtually lost to them. Lyndon Johnson has used TV to reconstitute his stewardship—and star things up. Sen. Fred Harris, chosen Democratic National Chairman, led the party further leftward than many old guardists and midroders relished. The party is over $7 million in debt. Its congressional leadership is handicapped by efforts in the House to overthrow senior leadership deemed too senior, and by party uncertainties in the Senate. Democratic liberals are bucking a conservative tide, nationwide.

And then there is the fact that the Democrats underestimated Richard Nixon. Not only has he snatched their issues—welfare, pollution, tax reform. Not only has he managed to "buy time" on the gravities of Vietnam and inflation. He also has managed, by being the middle class's middle-of-the-road champion, to hold on to his slim 1968 election majority and to begin to woo the blue-collar working class.

None of this means that the Democrats may not—as happens in mid-term elections—win a few additional House seats, perhaps even upset the Republican hopes of capturing seven Senate seats and Senate control. The Democrats could seize a couple of governorships.

Ambassadors' Perform

The All American College Variety Show, the same program presented at Expo '70 in a group by BYU Program and members of the BYU take place today in the Smith Memorial Auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Official representatives for the United States at the World's Fair, "Program Bureau will entertain one week in California before on to the Orient for an eight k tour. The group will perform in Japan, Korea, Okinawa, Guam.

Their final week of performances will be at Expo '70. The group will then meet friends of BYU who have touring the Orient since the beginning of February. Both will perform at the same at the World's Fair. The Young Ambassadors, created by the United States Defense Department, is a division of the BYU Program. Thursday evening's performance will be sponsored by 970 BANYAN and is free to student body and public.

The group is composed of 15 members who will tour the United States, and an additional 30 members of Program Bureau who will perform with them in California before they leave.

Organized to provide an outlet for the talents of hundreds of BYU students, the University's Program Bureau has been in operation for many years. The aim of directors who work with the 300 students each year is to promote effective self-expression and the development of the "well-rounded man."

Administration of the Program Bureau is handled by James H. Lawrence, with Jane Thompson as show director.

Students participate in an average of 400 programs a year as singers, dancers, masters of ceremonies, comedians, instrumentalists and set and costume designers. Their time is donated, they receive no academic credit for the work.

Fieldhouse Frolics, the Bureau's major show, is a highlight of Homecoming each year. Dances and assemblies and smaller group meetings make up the bulk of performances on campus.

Off-campus productions designed to spread a good image of the school are given for high schools, regional and national conventions, industrial meetings and church groups.

An open house for the Cougar Club will be held today at 6:30 p.m. in the multi-purpose areas of Smith Family Living Center.

The Cougar Club is a national organization of U students and parents and membership is open to all. This club is the official athletic booster organization of the University.

Student Relations Sponsors Human Dynamics Workshop

"Enters Interpersonal III," a human dynamics workshop sponsored by the Student Relations Office, will take place this weekend at Mount Majestic Manor and Lodge in Brighton.

Goals of the conference are "to discover what the potentialities of our human existence really mean," and to "enlighten students on the skills necessary in human relations," according to Randy Scott, chairman of the event.

While the workshop will not involve "sensitivity training," Scott said, it would use group methods to "create an atmosphere of trust and acceptance," so that the participants "will feel free to discuss ideas as they feel inspired."

Role playing and group discussion will be the primary methods used, Scott said.

One of the major objectives is to encourage the individual to find out more about himself, Scott added. "The group is a mirror to help him (the individual) realize how he acts."

The $5.50 cost of the workshop includes transportation to and from Brighton, as well as room and board. Buses will leave Friday at 5:45 p.m. for the two-day workshop and return to Provo Saturday evening.

Students may sign up in the Business Office, 327 Wilkinson Center, until Friday at 4 p.m.

JUNIOR ENGLISH PROFICIENCY EXAM

The final Junior English Proficiency Exam for this academic year will be given on April 11, 1970. As you know, passing the exam is required of all students before graduation from BYU.

Are you positive you will be able to pass the exam on April 11? When writing a theme, do you know, 1) how to write an acceptable thesis statement; 2) the necessity of concrete, supporting detail; 3) how to clearly organize your theme, and; 4) how to produce effective sentence structure? If not, register today for the Junior English Review Class. If you're wise, you will welcome the opportunity to spend one night a week for only four weeks reviewing your English skills.

Five members of the BYU Music Dept. faculty have been appointed by the Utah Music Educators Association as the state representatives in a national project of the 58,000-member Music Educators National Conference.

The new project, called "Project GO," will study the critical problems in many aspects of music education and will re-examine the role and responsibility of MENC regarding these problems.

'Y Vector'

Engineering Magazine

"What a fantastic age to be living in a noble and glorious era!" is a statement made in the January issue of the "Y Vector," a BYU student engineering magazine which has 600 student subscribers.

Called the "Vector" because of its "magnitude and direction," the magazine has been in existence for ten years, with its office located in B20 under the editorship of Mark Anderson.

Anderson, from Fairbanks, Alaska, 27, and majoring in electrical engineering, was elected editor of the "Vector" for the year by the Engineering Journal Council.

As a member of the Engineering College Magazine Association, it is sent to universities all over the country and has been described as a "capable" magazine.

The magazine is published four times a year, and the next issue is set for March 26. Advertisements for writers and other assistants were completed in September and the result was a staff chiefly composed of engineering students.

Monetary backing for the magazine is from local advertisements and many national advertisements, obtained by right of its membership in the ECMA.

Anderson stated the purpose of the "Vector" is "to keep students informed of events of the Engineering Dept., provide experience in the field of communications, and advertise the achievements of engineers students."

Each issue includes an editor by Anderson who comments on being a student and gives hints to success. He says, "The engineer who has memorized his work through school is worse off than the computer that has on memory storage...he doesn't work fast."

In the January issue, Dr. Armin J. Hill wrote an explanatory article on a new Masters and Doctors program that the educators are beginning to promote.

Said Hill, "These vario programs are designed to assist a student to attain his long range goals as effectively as possible in a minimum length of time."

Also in this issue is a short story on the new engineering building to be completed in 1971, a section on summer jobs for engineering students, and a page entitled "Y's Cracks" Forest Berg.

Anderson considers the "Vector" a worthwhile project, "a communications attempt to bring engineers and society closer together."

Scholarship Deadline

Scholarship applications for continuing students are now being accepted with transcripts containing fall semester grades.

Both the application and instruction sheet are available from the Scholarship Office, along with financial aid literature for those who are interested. Applications will be accepted until 5 p.m. on Wednesday, April 15, 1970.

Applications For Editor And Promotion Editor, The WYE

Applications are now being solicited and accepted for the positions of editor and promotion manager for the WYE magazine, 1970-71. The WYE, the student literary magazine, has consistently been one of the outstanding literary publications in Rocky Mountain colleges and universities. The publication won the regional trophy for the best all-around magazine in 1969.

Published twice yearly under the sponsorship of the English Dept., the WYE is the voice for the fast-growing numbers of BYU students involved in creative writing, art and photography.

Applications should be submitted according to the following schedule:

A through D—Not later than Friday, March 6

E through I—Not later than Friday, March 13

J through N—Not later than Friday, March 20

O through T—Not later than Friday, March 27

U through Z—Not later than Tuesday, March 31

Students interested in the Individualized Secondary Teacher Education Program (I-STEP) should be aware that applications will be accepted during March for spring semester 1971, and for the filling of vacancies for fall semester. Applications for the I-STEP program are obtained from the Teacher Clearance Office, Young House (Phillips Lane).

tavernacle organist, with text by Dr. Edward L. Hart of BYU's English department. In addition, the program will include classical and LDS compositions.

Narration will be done by Elder Richard L. Evans of the Council of the Twelve, who is the voice of the Temple Square broadcasts. Richard P. Condie will be conducting with Alexander Schreiner, senior tavernacle organist, as accompanist.

One of the world's best-known choral groups, it has a membership of about 375 with eight-part harmony.

Alpha Epsilon Delta Elects New Officers

The BYU chapter of the Honorary Pre-Medical and Pre-Dental Society, Alpha Epsilon Delta, has elected officers for the coming year.

The new officers are as follows. President, Scott Malan; Vice President, Pre-Med, King Udal; Vice President for Pre-Dental, Lon Olsen; Treasurer, Linda Hahn; Secretary, Brent Griffen; Sculptor representative, Roger Engels; and Historian, Gene Dras.

Swimmers Enter WAC Meet

By R.C. ROBERG
University Sports Writer

The University of Utah will be the site of the 1970 WAC Swimming Championships starting today and running through Saturday. The events listed for today include the 500-yard freestyle, 200-yard individual relay, 50-yard freestyle, one-meter diving and the 400-yard medley relay.

The preliminaries are scheduled for today with the finals to get underway at 8 p.m. The University of Utah has been labeled as the team to beat, with their strongest competition coming from the Colorado State Rams. This makes the eighth consecutive year that Utah has been the team to beat.

BYU swimming coach Walter Cryer has been putting his Aquanauts through long hours of preparation for this meet, but stated, "Due to the fact that we haven't the depth as Utah or Colorado State, we will probably finish third, but you never can tell until the finals are over."

BYU All-American Fred Baird is the defending champion in the 100-yard butterfly, and is undefeated in WAC competition. Baird has been a mainstay on the Cougar team all season long and will be missed by Coach Cryer when graduation day arrives.

Another top individual performer for the Cougars is Slobodan Djokovic, who has been coming on strong for the Cougars all season and is expected to give the opposition a rough time in his specialty, the distance freestyle, which puts strong emphasis on the swimmer's strength and stamina.

In the sprints BYU's hopes will ride on the strong and able shoulders of Tom Fairbank, who has established numerous BYU varsity records and is considered to be a strong opposition as a formidable opponent. In the one-meter diving event the load will fall on the sturdy legs of Jim Whylaw, who has been improving in each of the Cougars dual meets and will be counted on heavily by Coach Cryer to make a strong finish this year.

The Cougars have another WAC defending Champion in Rob Stoddard, who is the 200-yard breaststroke title holder and also represents BYU in the 400-yard medley relay event along with Baird, Fairbank and Jess Allen. Allen, also a senior, will be making his final appearance in WAC competition and would like to go out in a blaze of glory.

Coach Cryer stated, "We have had a fine dual meet record of 11-2-1, however, our lack of depth will certainly be a contributing factor against us in the WAC Championships, as we will only be represented by 15 swimmers.

READY TO SPRING into action is BYU's Jess Allen prepares for the WAC Swimming Championships to be held at the University of Utah, March 5-7. Jess, a senior from Tooele, majoring in Business, was the 1968 WAC Champion 100-yard backstroke, and also holds two BYU varsity records.

Cougars Bow To Utes

By MIKE TWITTY
Sports Editor

Utah State advanced up for the NCAA tournament by defeating BYU, 86-73, last night to win its 20th game of the season.

The Aggies, now 20-6, meet the winner of the Western Athletic Conference, Texas-El Paso, in Provo Saturday night with the winner advancing to the regional in Seattle. BYU, whose 8-18 record is the worst in 21 years, Stan Watts, battled to even terms for 15 minutes before Utah, away to a 48-second lead.

The Cougars had a 4-45 remaining when Tim Tolstrup Jeppesen, the only Aggie in the lineup, paced the forefront of the battle.

A disappointed 11,020 saw the Cougars lead to within six points only to have the Aggies take the lead to 10 points maintained through half.

Emblyers Race Past In Season Finale

WALLY RUGG

Sports Editor

Kittens blew a nine-point lead and came back in the ball game as their season finale to the Frosh 90-79 here last Laurids, 6'6" forward, score a point in the second half and came away from the WCU 44-43 lead at half. The Frosh led by 40-31 with 10:50 remaining in the second half. The Frosh turned and good as the Rambler brought in Ken Thompson sank a layup with two seconds left to give the Frosh from Logan the one point halftime lead.

For all practical purposes, the BYU frosh lost the game at the free throw line, where they couldn't buy one all night long.

As the second half began, USU on the shooting of Laurids and Bryan Pavlich steadily upped their lead and had their biggest bulge of the game at 82-66 with 7:15 to play.

At that point Kitten came

Courtney Lehman inserted four guards into the lineup to try to outrun the tall Rambler crew, but it did no good as the closest the

BYU frosh could come was 10 points.
